COVERED CALL PHILOSOPHY

- The Covered Bridge Fund writes calls on approximately half of each equity investment. By doing this over the long term a portfolio may potentially show less volatility and create more income.
- The adjacent chart is for hypothetical purposes. This illustrates the behavior of an investment consisting of an underlying stock with call options written against half of its shares, all of its shares and none of its shares.

*The performance data quoted here represents past performance. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted above. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The Fund's investment adviser has contractually agreed to reduce its fees and/or absorb expenses of the Fund, at least until January 31, 2018, to ensure that the net annual fund operating expenses will not exceed 1.91% and 1.66% of the Fund's average daily net assets for its Class A and Class I shares, subject to possible reconportment from the Fund in future years. THE COVERED BRIDGE FUND

JUNE 30, 2017 FACT SHEET

HOLDINGS

- Dividend paying stocks which we believe are high quality.
- Cash held to pay out dividends, withdrawals and for puts that have been sold.
- Call options sold on existing positions.
- Index put options purchased in extreme cases with the goal of protecting the principle of the fund.

The advisor has not previously managed a mutual fund. Investments in foreign securities could subject the Fund to greater risks including, currency fluctuation, economic conditions, and different governmental and accounting standards. Higher portfolio turnover will result in higher transactional and brokerage costs. Selling covered call options will limit the Fund's gain, if any, on its underlying securities. The Fund continues to bear the risk of a decline in the value of its underlying stocks. Option premiums are treated as short-term capital gains and when distributed to shareholders, are usually taxable as ordinary income, which may have a higher tax rate than long-term capital gains for shareholders holding Fund shares in a taxable account.

Important Definitions: Call Option: An agreement that gives an investor the right (but not the obligation) to buy a stock, bond, commodity or other instrument at a specified price within a specific time period. Call options involve risks different from, or possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities and other traditional investments. These risks include risk of mispricing or improper valuation and the risk that changes in the value of the call option may not correlate perfectly with the underlying asset, rate or index. Put Options: An option contract giving the owner the right, but not the obligation, to sell a specified amount of an underlying security at a specified price within a specified time. This is the opposite of a call option, which gives the holder the right to buy shares. The risk of writing uncovered put options is substantial. The writer of an uncovered put option bears a risk of loss if the value of the underlying instrument declines below the exercise price. Such loss could be substantial if there is a significant decline in the value of the underlying instrument. Index: The S&P 500 Index: is an unmanaged composite of 500 large capitalization companies. This index is widely used by professional investors as a performance benchmark for large-cap stocks. The referenced indices are shown for general market comparisons and are not meant to represent the Fund. Fundamental Analysis: A method of evaluating a security that entails attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Covered Call: An options strategy whereby an investor holds a long position in an asset and writes (sells) call options on that same asset in an attempt to generate increased income from the asset. This is often employed when an investor has a short-term neutral view on the asset and for this reason holds the asset long and simultaneously has a short position via the option to generate income from the option premium. Option Premium: The income received by an investor who sells or "writes" an option contract to another party. 6916-NLD-7/10/2017
